Drakontas LLC to Exhibit at 2008 Police Security Expo in Atlantic City, NJ

Camden, NJ – Drakontas LLC, which provides situation awareness products, Federal program administration and consulting services to the law enforcement and first responder communities, will be an exhibitor at the 22nd Annual Police Security Expo, to be held at the Atlantic City Convention Center on June 24-25, 2008.

Drakontas will occupy booth #148, providing show attendees the opportunity to stop by and to learn more about the company and its situation awareness application suite, DragonForce™, via a live, hands-on demonstration. DragonForce™, which runs on a variety of mobile devices – including PDAs and smartphones – establishes a common operating picture and facilitates command and control (C2) for law enforcement, first responders, public safety, homeland defense and industrial security, through the use of real-time blue force tracking, text messaging, shared imagery, and collaborative whiteboarding.

“We’re excited to be a part of the Police Security Expo this year and look forward to meeting with our customers in one setting over a two-day period,” noted James Sim, Drakontas’ President and COO. “The Police Security Expo represents one of the best opportunities for a small business like Drakontas to get in front of our customers and affords us unparalleled exposure to the law enforcement community.”

About Drakontas LLC

Drakontas, headquartered in Camden, New Jersey, develops, evaluates and promotes interoperable communications solutions that increase the safety and operational efficiency of law enforcement, emergency response, and security personnel. The company was founded in partnership with Drexel University in 2004 to transition technologies developed at the Applied Communications and Information Networking (ACIN) Center for the Department of Defense to commercial, civilian and homeland security uses.

In addition to providing situation awareness products, Drakontas administers the NLECTC-Communications Technologies Center of Excellence (COE) through a $3.68 million cooperative agreement from the US Department of Justice, Office of Justice Programs’ National Institute of Justice. The COE, whose purpose is to test, evaluate and demonstrate cutting edge communications tools and technologies, is currently managing a wide range of criminal justice pilot projects involving software defined and cognitive radios, position location technologies, wireless data interoperability, and other communications tools and capabilities. The COE also provides support to the CommTech Technology Working Group, and provides specialized communications technology assistance to law enforcement agencies around the country.

More information about Drakontas' communications tools and government services solutions can be found at www.drakontas.com.

About the 22nd Annual Police Security Expo

The 22nd Annual Police Security Expo will take place at the Atlantic City Convention Center on Tuesday, June 24 and Wednesday, June 25, 2008.

Hailed as a “supermarket of information”, the Police Security Expo is one of the law enforcement industry's longest running and most respected events, designed with the sole purpose of displaying the latest goods, products and services available to all industry professionals. In addition to product exhibits, the Police Security Expo offers a wide range of seminars and product demonstrations. More than 7,500 law enforcement individuals are expected to attend and over 500 exhibitors will occupy booths at this year's show.
